THE STREET-CLEANING COMMISSIONER.

Among the men whom, it is stated, the Mayor has under consideration in connection with the Street-Cleaning Commissionership is James S. Coleman, of this city. Mr. Coleman, with his brother, has been engaged for several years in railroad building and has contracted for other large works. They have built a considerable part of the Southern Paeific Railroad and sections of the branches of the Union Pacific and other railroads in the West and Southwest. Two years ago the brothers proposed to clean the streets of this city. They were the only bidders. The Corporation-Counsel advised the Police Commissioners that the bid was informal and could not be accepted. The bidders had deposited a certified check for $150,000, and this check was returned to them. A suit for damages was begun against the city by the contractors and it is now pending. There is a probability that the Mayor may decide to nominate Mr. Coleman to the Board of Health.

CHINESE LABOR IN BRAZIL.

Efforts are said to have been made by Brazilian agents in Germany to divest emigration from the United States to Brazil, but not with any success. Dr. de Lima arrived in this city from Rio Janeiro Friday last, to obtain 3,000 Chinese laborers for the province of Sao Paulo. He believes that in six or seven years slavery in Brazil will be practically abolished. Bismarck, he thinks, has discouraged Germans from going to Brazil, and through the German consuls has incited strikes among them. The great need of Brazil, he said, was competition in labor, and as European and American immigrants could not be induced to colonize in Brazil, recourse must be had to the Chinese, who are both cheap and submissive. He intends to procure the required number of Chinese in this country, if possible, but he may be obliged to go to China.

LOCAL MISCELLANY. SOMMING UP FOR WHITTAKER. EX-GOVERNOR CHAMBERLAIN BEGINS HIS ARGUMENT.

SCMMING UP FOR WHITTAKER.

EX-GOVENGOR CHAMBERLAIN BEGINS HIS ARGUMENT.

All the members of the Whittaker court-martial were in their places at 11 o'clock yesterday. Some time, however, was taken up in private consultations, so that it was about noon when ex-Governor Chamberlain began his argument.

It is four months, he said, since this trial began, and the result is 7,000 pages of manuscript evidence. Cadet Whittaker stands charged with two military offences: first, with conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman; and secondly, with perjury. The charge is that he resorted to this extraordinary device to escape the approaching examinations. How I sak, if his plan had been a complete success, would be have avoided examination? If Cadet Whittaker was the author of the outrage, he knew best to what extent the injuries went. Can anyone maintain that Cadet Whittaker believed that his physical injuries would be sufficient to keep him in the hospital long enough to give him a decent pretext for waiting a year before taking his examination? But further, what was Cadet Whittaker's character? It has been proved, conclusively proved, that up to the 5th of April this accused cadet had been from his earliest years of singularly irreproachable character? a youth of filial devotion, and, so far as we can know, of honest piety. Yet here, all upon the instant, without previous deviation from the path of rectifude, he is alleged to have committed a most revolting and degrading act. There is another preliminary consideration. It has been a prevalent remark among outsiders that West Point is inextricably entangled in this case, and what it office cannot be evaded—that west Point is inextricably entangled in this case, and what it did cannot have the overlooked. Is it most likely that this quiet, inoffensive, spotless youth committed the outrage of the 5th of April himself, or that it was the work of some of the baser spirts among the 350 who had committed thim. The barbers had testified that Whittaker's hair could not have tee

SORROWFUL DAYS FOR DOGS. ANNUAL WARPARE ON THE CANINE RACE AT

The Annual warpare on the Canine race at the annual warfare on the canine race was at hand. A well-dressed, middle-aged woman was talking with John McMahon, the keeper of the pound for the last five years. "You call her 'Nellie,' and she'll answer to it. She is a pointer, just about so high, and had a little white hair here, indicating the corresponding position on the dog." I have worried awfully," continued the woman, "and couldn't sleep or cat, though I pretended not to care." After about fifteen injunctions as to the care of her pointer, the woman went away.

Men were busy about the pound yesterday, getting ready for the avalanche of dogs which will reach the pound this morning. The pound-master has arranged to have water run in troughs in front of all the kennels, a better method of watering the animals than the previous use of pans. The iron cage, which holds 100 dogs "comfortably," was ready yesterday. After the cage is submerged in water long enough to drown the animals, the carcaseses are sent to Barren Island, where the skins are preserved and the bodies made into fertilizers. "Here we keep the 'ki-yis' or curs," said the keeper, showing a large pen. The valuable dogs have 130 comfortable kennels for their reception. Here they are kept on probation forty-eight hours, in which time they may boys 10 cents a piece for catching them. "The regular catchers catch the big dogs," said an employe: "they get bitten all over some times, but they do not mind it." The pound-master pays only the appointed catchers for dogs, and these make from $10 to $15 a day. Many dogs have been caught in the last week, and kept in cellars waiting for to-day. Some "speculators" have forty or fifty on hand. The camine rign of terror will last until November probably. Meanwhile the average dog must carry his tail between his legs, keep a sharp eye out fore and aft, and be ready for a mile dash any minute. Last year there were $518 dogs drowned. The wagons of the catchers are required to be numbered, and the men are denoted by a

HEAD TAX ON IMMIGRANTS.

THE FOREIGN STRAMSHIP COMPANIES REQUEST THE GOVERNOR TO VETO THE BILL.

In view of the passage by the Legislature of the bill permitting the Commissioners of Emigration "to levy and collect a duty of $1 for each and every alien passenger who shall come by a vessel from a foreign port to the port of New-York, for whom a tax has not heretofore been paid," the foreign steamship companies yesterday joined in a protest to the Governor against his approval of the bill. The general expression of opinion among the steamship people is that the bill is nuconstitutional, and they say that they will resist the payment of the tax. R. J. Cortiss, of the White Star Line, when asked by a Tribune reporter what the steamship people would do, replied:

Fight! fight! It is a nicely covered up bill, but it is unconstitutional and we will not pay the tax. The subterfuge of the framers of the bill that the inspection is necessary to detect criminals and paupers among immigrants will not do. It would not do. It would be absolutely impossible to detect such by an inspection of their baggage, as such people do not carry anything that would criminate them. When we bring these people 3,000 miles miles across the ocean and take care of them meanwhile, we have completed our contract, and our responsibility ends. To levy a tax of $1 for each immigrant brought here by the New-York lines, leaving Philadelphia and Boston exempt, is simply discriminating against New-York on the immigrant tradic."

G. W. Colton, of the Red Star Line, said; "Immigrants are in the nature of imports, and no State can pass a law levying a tax on imports; hence the

G. W. Colton, of the Red Star Line, said: "Immigrants are in the nature of imports, and no State can pass a law levying a tax on imports; hence the law is unconstitutional, and I don't believe one dollar will be paid by the steamship companies." Agents of the other lines expressed similar views, and declared that they would contest the constitutionality of the act.

Emigration Commissioner Starr, president of the Board, said that legal opinions which had been given sustained the constitutionality of the act. He was certain that the steamship companies, in selling immigrant tickets, included "head tax and hospital money."

Five steamships landed 4,363 immigrants at Caslle Garden yesterday. The Circassia, from Glaslow, brought 1,072; the Denmark, from Liverpool, the Cimbria, from Hamburg, 957; the Wyolog, from Liverpool, 943; the St. Laurent, from flavre, 426. Among those on the Wyoming were 287 Mornion converts, who were sent to care the City last night.

The immigration for May shows about the following percentages among the principal nationalities:
Germany, 33½ per cent; other German speaking countries, 6½ per cent; Sweden, Denmark and Norway, 22 per cent; Ireland, 19 per cent; England, 9 per cent; Scotland, 2½ per cent.

The report of the building committee of the Produce Exchange to the Board of Managers was submitted yesterday. It gives the cost of the real estate acquired for the new building of the Produce Exchange as $670,000. It is believed that the cost of the building alone will be about $1,000,000. The income from rentals is estimated at $70,000 a year. The building is to be ready for occupancy about May 1. The style of architecture is a modified Renaissance. The materials employed will be brick, stone, terra-cotta and iron.

The funeral of L. J. Stiastny, the well-known German merchant of this city, took place at his home, No. 158 Hudson-st., Hoboken, yesterday afternoon. About 300 persons were present. Mr. Stiastny was a Rationalist or Freethinker and there were no religious services at the funeral. Dr. Outlich delivered an eloquent oration in the German language, paying a warm tribute to the virtues of the deceased man, and describing his active and successful career, his friendly, helpful, liberal character, his great interest in the progress and welfare of his German-American fellow-citizens, his efforts for the advan-ment of education, his patriotic zeal for the Union during the civil war in this country, his constant and intelligent advocacy of unity and freedom in his Fatherland, and his hospitality and benevolence. THE GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION WITHOUT EFFECT

-FACTORY OWNERS ACCUSING EACH OTHER.

The time granted by the Governor to the owners of factories at Hunter's Point and near Newtown Creek, to abste the nuisances complained of, expired yesterday. A Tribune reporter who visited the immediate neighborhood of the Creek yesterday found the smells to be as strong as ever. The people in the neighborhood, when questioned, asserted that the Governor's proclamation had not brought about the desired change.

Superintendent Powell, of the Devoe Manufacturing Company's oil packing factory, said that he had seen the Governor's proclamation, but that he had done nothing because the odors from the company's premises could not be considered a nuisance. He referred the reporter to the Brooklyn Oil Company "next door," where, he said, the smells were "still sometimes very strong." Superintendent Hildebrand, of the Brooklyn Oil Refinery, on being seen, energetically denied the imputation. He claimed, on the contrary, that the company had made some improvements in its appliances. He also assured the reporter that the chief cause of complaint lay with E. Church & Co., manufacturers of bicarbonate of soda, "ever the way," The reporter accordingly went "over the way," and was told by Mr. Church that soda could not possibly give any disagreeable odor, and that the vapors from his factory were not at all detrimental to health. In his opinion the French Cream of Tartar Factory at West-st, and Greenpoint-ave., was to blame for much of the outcry against Hunter's Point and Greenpoint manufacturers. At the French Cream of Tartar factory the reporter was informed that jealousy had prompted the neighbors to complain. There were no odors in or about the factory. The vats and boilers had been cleaned recently, and all danger from smells had been done away with. The superintendent, in this instance, did not volunteer to give his opinion as to who might be the culprit.

The other factories visited by the reporter were Meye

A SUIT AGAINST GENERAL DI CESNOLA.

Gaston L. Fenardent has begun an action for defamation of character against General di Cesnola, Director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The summons was served by Mr. Fenardent's counsel, Messrs, Oudin & Oakley, Tuesday night. Mr. Oudin was asked by a Thibune reporter yesterday for a copy of the complaint. He said that could not be given out until the defendant appeared to answer the summons. He would say, however, that it was simply an action looking to the vindication of Mr. Fenardent. General di Cesnola had made certain charges against his chent, and Mr. Fenardent appealed to the courts as the proper tribunal for the settlement of the controversy. There was nothing vindictive in the suit, nor was it a money-making affair. The damages to be claimed were not excessive. The complaint covered more ground than the allegations made during the investigation of Mr. Fenardent's charges against General di Cesnola.

Mr. Fenardent suid last night that his suit was based on the report of General di Cesnola to the trustees of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, published January 9, and the General di Cesnola to the trustees of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, published January 9, and the General di Cesnola had accused him of dishonesty in his dealings with the General in reference to the latter's collection before it was brought to the United States, and he desired to be vindicated in the matter.

General di Cesnola said last evening to a Trustune reporter that he did not know what the charges were, and until he had read the complaint he could not answer it. He had left everything with his counsel, J. H. Choate, and this morning would sail on the City of Brussels to enjoy a three months' visit to Europe. He said he was at a loss to know what the specifications could be, for, so far as he knew, he had been the one who had been attacked. "I did not attack dim," said General di Cesnola, "but he attacked me and the integrity of the Museum. I would have instituted a libel suit against Mr. Fena A SUIT AGAINST GENERAL DI CESNOLA.

ages. In bringing a libel suit I should want to sue a responsible man."
General di Cesnola did not care to make any extended statement in reference to the suit while he had not read the complaint, but he did say that if a collection were made of many of Mr. Fenardent's allegations in reference to himself, the number of contradictions and the amount of stupidity they would be found to contain would be astonishing.

Mr. Fenardent last fall charged that General di Cesnola had made improper alterations in the Cesnola collection now at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. A committee, consisting of President Barnard, of Columbia College, Chief-Justice Daly, the Rev. Dr. Roswell D. Hitchcock, J. Q. A. Ward and W. C. Prime, made an investigation of the charges, and on January 26 pronounced them false.

THE PUBLIC BATHS OPENED.

The eight free public baths of the city were opened vesterday, the women and girls being allowed to have the first dip of the season. Although no extensive notice of the opening of the baths had been given, there were between 2,000 and 3,000 bathers yesterday. The baths have been newly painted, and a new feature has been added to all of them, consisting of a shallow tank under the ro ms on one side of the bath, in which the smallest children can bathe and be taught to swim without danger of drowning and without annoying the larger bathers. Considerable difficulty was found in anchoring the bath at the Battery on account of the strong tides, and the necessity of keeping it some distance from the sea wall. Though the bathing was a little delayed, there was in the afternoon a large attendance of bathers of all ages and all of degrees of comeliness and ugliness. Miss Fernandez, the woman attendant, estimated that the number of bathers would reach nearly 500. The other baths

The other baths are moored at the foot of Gonverneur-st. Fifth-st., Nineteenth-st., Thirty-seventh-st. and One-hundred-and-twelfth-st., on the East River, and at the foot of Bethune-st., and Fifty-first-st., on the North River.

The North River baths were not very largely patronized yesterday. At the Fifth-st, bath, Mrs. Brown, the attendant, said there had been 300 bathers at 3 p. m. Ten women had been on hand at 5 a. m. The Gouverneur-st, bath was the most patronized of any. Miss Bennett, the woman keeper in charge, said at 4 p. m. that about 900 persons had bathed. Fifteen women were waiting to bathe at 5 a. m. Several school children played transit and stayed in the bath till their mothers found them out. The baths will be opened daily. Men may bathe Tnesdays, Thurslays, and Saturdays, from 5 a. m. to 9 p. m., and on Sundays from 5 a. m. till 12 m. Women may bathe Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 5 a. m. to 9 p. m., and on Sundays from 5 a. m. to 9 p. m. Boys under fourteen are only admitted between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m. Women and girls must bring bathing suits. Twenty minutes is the limit of each bath.

THE TROUBLES OF A CORNET PLAYER.

Isaac Levy, better known as J. Levy, the cornet player, was arrested yesterday by the Sheriff on a charge of bigamy, the complainant being Mrs. Emily Levy, the first wife of the accused man. The order of arrest was granted by Judge Truax, of the Superior Court, and Mr. Levy was held in $2,500 bail. The complainant in her affidavit sets forth that she was married to Mr. Levy August 29, 1860, in St. George's Church, Hanover-square, London, Middlesex, England. She asks for a divorce and alimony, and that she be awarded the custody of the two children. She charges Mr. Levy with having improper intimacy with Marianne Conway, and other women in this city and Philadelphia since the year 1877. The complainant further charges that on October 31, 1873, a deed of separation was drawn up and signed by Mr. Levy and herself, by the terms of which she agreed, in consideration of his paying her £14 monthly, to trouble him no more. This was paid regularly until 1876, since which time he has paid her nothing. Not long ago Mrs. Levy came here for the purpose of compelling her husband to carry out the terms of his agreement. She could obtain no satisfaction from him, and, learning that he was about to leave the State, she placed her case in the hands of counsel. In 1877 Mr. Levy married Miss Marianne Conway, a daughter of Mrs. F. B. Conway, for many years lessee of the Brocklyn Theatre, and he has lived with her since that time. DEMANDING HIGHER WAGES.

In accordance with a resolution adopted at a meeting of the Steamship Firemen's Protective Union Tuesday night, about 300 members struck yesterday, the firemen demanding $45 and coalheavers $35 a month, an advance of $5 from current wages. The lines which the strike affects are Alexandre's and Ward's, to Havana; Cromwell's, the Charleston, Old Dominion, Morgan's and Mallory's. A meeting of the Union was held last evening, Reports were made of the condition of the strike, As the steamers on the coastwise lines arrive in port the firemen will strike in accordance with the order of their society. Police Captain Gastlin detailed an extra force yesterday to prevent any disturbance, but there seemed to be no disposition on the part of the strikers to make trouble, although some of them were not allowed to take their clothing from the vessels on which they were employed.

At a secret meeting of the Brewers' Union, held last night, it was decided to strike June 7 for a reduction in the number of hours to twelve. A circular has been prepared for presentation to the boss browers which they will be asked to sign, binding themselves to the conditions named by the Union. If they refuse to do so before June 6, the men will strike the following day. It was stated that George Ehret had reduced the number of hours of his employes. No demand for higher wages is to be made.
